THE BATTLE OF CHANCELLORSVILLE, -Oc. essionally Alexandria surprises herself. The proverb that lee urers fare badly in Alexandria has grown to be a well known truism, and seldom is there an exception to the rule. Last evening, however, the exception prevailed, for as General Fitzhugh Lee atose to commence his address on "The Battle of Chancellorsville," he was received with the enthusiastic applause of as intelligent and appreciative an audience as ever filled an auditorium. Sarepta Hall was filled with the grace and beauty of the city, and the bright eyes of fair ladies glistoped with pride at the recital of the bravery of some leved one who, at Chancellorsville or at Manassas, followed in the heroic charge-perchance to rout the enemy, perchauce to lay bleeding on the field, and die where he fell-

"Dead on the field of glory." And men, too, sat there and hearl with rapt attention of the charge now (40 long size nearly forgotten, and their eyes gleamed with a peculiar fire and their hearts swilled with a once familiar emotion as they heard of "Stone will Jackson's way" and how herole illy he laid down his life on the altar of his country. But Sconewall sleeps op, and the mountains he leved so well are the silent sentries that watch o'er his grave. For nearly two hours the speaker held the attention of his hearers, and was frequently applauded, and when, at its conclusion, he took his seat the large audience felt loth to leave so well pleased were they all at the excel lent address they had heard on Chancellorsville, its glories, and its sorrows. After the address the committee took charge of General Lec. and together with other guests, conducted him to the parlors of Steuernagle's Exchange, where a handsome banquet had been prepared. The table was arranged by Mr. W. Steuernagle, and the beautiful mapper in which the tempting dishes were arranged would have done credit to any enterer. To the repast General's Loc and Corse, Colonel M. Marye, Captain K Komper, Mr. Thomas Beekham, and Messr. E. H. O'Brien, Edgar Warfield, W. K. Davidson, and R. M. Latham, of the Relief Hook and Ladder Company, sat down, and if the merry laugh and happy repartee are indications of cujoyment the banquet was a grand success.

FRANK J. OLDEN. - The case of Frank J Olden, who has been on trial in the Corporation Court for marrying a negro woman named Milly Motley, for the past three days, has excited a good deal of interest. He was first ar rested on the charge of forgery, which turned out to be a mistake, but in hunting up evidence against him, the fact was developed that he was living at the house of the negro weman Motley as her husband. When arrested he was supposed to be a white man; indeed, no one had an idea to the contrary, for the woman he mar ried was tried, e nvicted and sent to the pear tentiary some time age. He has been convicted ones, but a new trial was granted him. At the present trial the question upon which the jury could not arree was whether he was a white or a block mar. The presence claimed that he was not a white man; that his father was no Englishman; who came to this country and married a woman who was balf Indian and half negro. It therefore rested upon the Common wealth to prove that he was a white men. Medical experts testified that after an exempation they were unable to state posture le whether be was a white or a block man; that there was an absence of all the charge gristle of the negre; that there was a dark streak down his back, but if there was any negro blood in him, it was imposible for them to say in what quantity it exsted. Olden is about five feet nine juches to height, rather stont, with short black hair, 11is the c lor of a bright mulatto, with large black eyes, straight, prominent nose, and telerable good looking. When asked by the policeman, who arrested him, what he married a dirry black pegro for, he replied, "I loved her and I married her." The jury in the case came into cout yesterday evening about five o'clock, and through their foreman, Mr. J. H. D. Smoot, stated that it was impossible for them to agree They were then the in charge of a bailiff for the tight, and carried to the Alexandria House, but being unable to agree they were this morning di charged. The incy, it is said. stood six to a z.

CAPTURED, - J. C. Decker, better known as "J. C. D." was fined by the Corporation Court yesterday, $75 and the costs of the case, for selling I quer to minors. He left for paris un known before the verdict of the jury was an nounced, but was captured last night in Washington by Deputy Sergeant Anthony W. Armstrong, and brought back to this city on the seven o'cleck train, and lodged in jail. Judge Charles E. Stuart in passing the sentence on Decker took occasion to say that such cases deserved the full penalty of the law, but in consideration of the recommendation of the jury he would be as leinent as his conscience would permitt. Selling liquer to boys, he said, was not only demoralizing to the black, but to the white race also, and could not be too severely condemned.

STEAMBOAT NEWS .- The Gazette a few days ago gave a report of the purchase of a new steamer by the company owning the John W. Thompson. The Washington Republican of this morning says: "The steamer John W. Thompson will come off the ways at Alexandria in a day or two, and soon thereafter will resume her trips on the Potomac in connection with the new boat purchased at New York. The Jane Moseley will be taken to Baltimore to receive hir new boilers and be otherwise refitted for the Norfolk line. With her new boilers in her, she will undoubtedly be the fastest boat south of Philadelphia.

PARTIES.-A large number of parties were given in the city last night, all of which were very enjoyable affairs. There was a marquerade party on St. Asaph street, an entertainment on south Fairfax street, and the Lee So cials spent a very pleasant evening at the resideres of Mr. Heath, on Prince street. The young people are making the most of the few days left them between this and Lent, which begins next Wednesday. Then all these fes iv ities will cease, and the gayest season that has been seen for a long time close.

MARRIAGE,-The marriage of Mr. Sevellon Alden Brown, chief clark of the State Department, to Miss Sallie Manadier Phelps, daugh ter of Captain S. Ledyard Phelps, late Distric ommissioner, took place at the church of the Epiphany, in Washington, last night, and is described as the greatest scend event that has tesurred in that city since the Fitch-Sherman welding. There were about thirty relatives of the bride present from this city, the most of whom remained over to the reception, which is strucly a family affair

HEN HOUSE ROBBED .- Mr. John A. Wil iams, who lives on A'fred street, between Cameron and Queen, had his hen house robbed last night of a large number of fine Cochin chickens. There seems to be a regular organ z d gang of chicken thieves in this city. They appear first in one section of the city and then in another. The first chicken thief caught ought to be punished severely, and an example set that would not soon be forgotton.

DEATH OF AN ESTIMABLE LADY .-- Mrs. Sarah P. S. Price, the wife of Capt. Wm. B. Price, died last night after an illness of about one month. MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

Business generally during the week has been very quiet, and the receipts of produce very light, the condition of the roads in the country, and the idea that better prices may prevail later, inducing farmers to hold back their grain. In money matters there is also a "ctand still," the demand being limited, while the supply is fully adequate for all legitimate wants. We notice that in Baltimore the supply of money is abundant, and the market very easy. Good borrowers are accommodated at 5a6 per cent, with occasional negotiations at lower figures. The offerings of paper are light, and any amount of good could be readily placed. In the New York money market call loans are 5a6 per cent on stocks, and 4.5 per cent on U. S. bonds. Money on time is offered freely at 5 51 per cent, which is also the quotation for prime mercantile paper. The demand for money at Philadelphia is sufficiently active to keep rates steady. The market for Government bonds was firm yesterday, with an active movement generally. The closing quotations at New York showed & advance in 41s and 4 per cents, the latter being 1051 a1051 for regular and large coupons. State securities are generally quiet, but Virginia bonds are firmer. and closed yesterday with a healthier tone and a general improvement in all the issues. $20,300 consols sold at from 481 up to 493; closing at 491 a492; $9,000 peelers sold at 304, and $2,000 of the 10 40; sold at 361, closing 361a362. Orange and Alexandria bonds are very strong, and lsts and 2ds wanted at 105; 3ds were 78aSO, and 4ths 411 46. We quote:
